Chair Snodgrass opened the study session on the Education Hill Neighborhood Plan. Sarah Stiteler stated that for the transportation discussion, a representative from David Evans and Associates will speak to the commission on April 26. There was a discussion on community and neighborhood outreach and communication. Ms. Stiteler began reviewing unresolved neighborhood plan issues with the commissioners. These issues included having a neighborhood liaison, maintaining the single-family detached housing nature of Education Hill as alternative housing options are considered, communication between the neighborhood and the City of Redmond, connecting 183rd Avenue NE to NE 116th Street, the nature of 166th Avenue NE, consideration of year round commercial concession stands at city parks, neighborhood commercial location policies in the Land Use Element, lighting in city parks, the role of the Puget Sound Energy Trail, and having policies N-EH-45, 46 and 47 serve as the basis for similar policies in the North Redmond Neighborhood Plan.

After discussion of all these issues, Ms. Stiteler stated that the commission will have the opportunity to discuss gateways and view corridors on April 19, and the 166th Avenue NE lane conversion on April 26.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:59 p.m.
